A FREE EBOOK

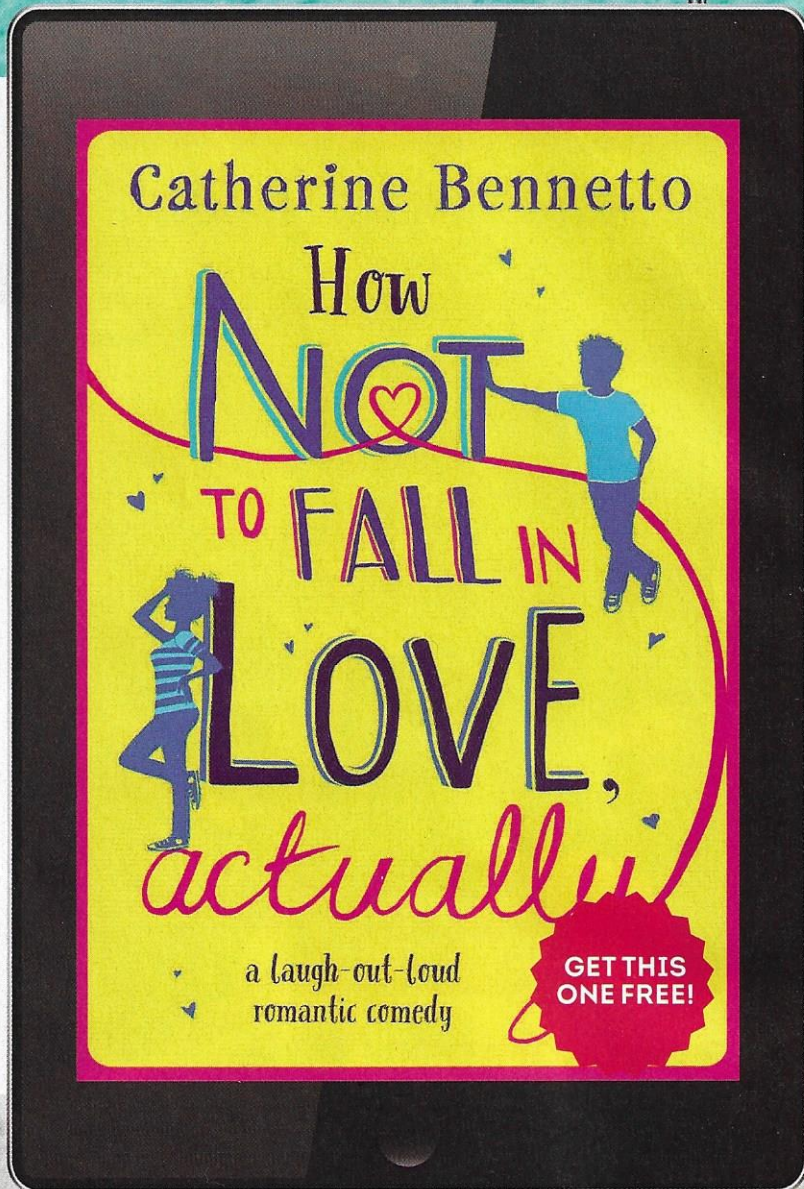

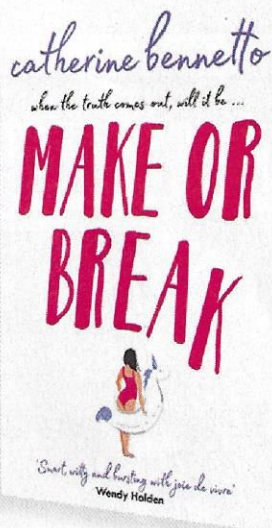

LET'S GET DIGITAL

Just as we did to huge success last summer, heat has teamed up with the awesome team over at Booksandthecity.co.uk to offer you the chance to claim FREE ebooks all summer long. Last year, our readers nabbed a whopping 100,000 copies – and we want to smash that number! Each book we give away has been written by the biggest and best stars of the UK women's fiction market, and we'll also be reviewing their latest releases right here on this page. Download your copy, then pop across and join heat's Book Club on Facebook to let us know what you thought.

HOW TO GET YOUR FREE EBOOK

To celebrate the release of Make Or Break by the brilliantly funny Catherine Bennetto, we're giving away a FREE copy of her debut novel How Not To Fall In Love,

Actually. Download your free copy on iBooks (Apple.co/heatholidayreads) from Tuesday 10-Tuesday 17 July (inclusive). iBooks is available on iPhone, iPad, iPod and Mac.

CATHERINE BENNETTO (SIMON & SCHUSTER, £7.99)

When Jess and Pete are surprised with tickets to fly out for a friend's wedding in South Africa, they're over the moon. With Jess having to live close to her single-mum sister and Pete facing a long daily commute as a result, their relationship is starting to suffer. A break is just what they need to reconnect and maybe set the date. That's what Jess hopes, anyway... If you like laugh-out-loud dialogue, brilliant characters and plenty of plot twists, this is for you. ★★★★★ Isabelle Broom

THE ANTI-COOL GIRL BY ROSIE WATERLAND

A friend sent me a message saying, "This book has new levels of honesty, you'll love it. Many poo stories." That was me sold. I like to start my holiday with something quick-paced and witty, so I'm fast-tracked into chill-out mode.

OUR HOUSE BY LOUISE CANDLISH

I can't wait to get into this book! The reviews are fantastic, and the premise chilling. I just know it will be one that will have me wide-eyed at 2am saying, "Just one more chapter, forget that morning run – who cares if you need a post-breakfast nap?"

YOU, ME, EVERYTHING BY CATHERINE ISAAC

I've been saving this book for when I'm on holiday. My boys will be in the pool, my husband doing a Sudoku beside me, and I'll be on the sun lounger immersing myself in the world Catherine Isaac has so beautifully created.
